lines other than piecegoods.

Special inquiries made at Canton surprisingly disclosed a move- on account of possible danger from the weight of heavy packages. ment that is best described as "half-way between intimedation and popaganda."

Attempts have been made already to "get at" the drews employed by Hong Kong ships and veiled threats have followed. Curiously enough, the Iron Blooded men's orders do not single out British piecegoods, but all piecegoods. oComfort may be derived, however, that this Corps does, not im many way interfere-"they almost entirely ignore" is the term used -with other merchandise which is plainly of British origin and manufacture, nor is there any disse crimination as regards exporta-

Canton Expects $250,000; o The investigations made by the "China Mail" have also revealed the fact that the Canton authorities have collected about $80,-000 up till the week-end, from surtaxes on exports.

Information which was forthcoming from the most likely source pointed to the Nationalist Government expecting a total of approximately $250,000 in surtaxes on exports; during the first month of collection. Progress so far indicates that the estimate will not be far out.

From what could be seen, it appears that the Surtax Bureau is collecting through the Customs brokers, whose books are open to inspection as they "are Chinese. with premises in the city.

Imports Not Taxed. So far there has been no extensive nor material attempt to levy the "special temporary taxes" on mports

Produce has come down to Hong Kong to such an extent as to bring about a substantial reduction in the prices of vegetables, fruit etc. but the 21/2 per cent. has been paid on nearly every shipment this week from Canton.

Searchers of the Strike Pickets are functioning on the Bund and streets adjacent to the steamer wharves. There is no recorded instance of personal effects having been confiscated but native travellers who were carrying small parcels of piecegoods (such as flannel and woollens) have been warned in no uncertain terms.

Curious Explanation. A Chinese gentleman who was returning to his native village was startingly accosted, after landing, by a party of plainclothes searchers who told him not bo travel by a British boat.

Striking up a conversation, he was told that Chinese owned steamers under British registry did not come within the category .They include practically all boats on the Canton run except the Steamboat Co.'s fleet (and the "Fatshan"). Hong Kong boats, belonging to Chinese, but under the British flag, running to Wuchow, Kongmoon etc. were also "exempted." Our informant added that he explained to the searchers that the Steamboat Co. was a public concern in which there were many Chinese shareholders, but the searchers replied that it was a British line.

There is no discriminationother than stated above—as to cargo to or from Hong Kong.

Piecegoods Singled Out. When the "Taishan" left on her initial night run at 3 a.m. to-day. she carried motor cars, steel joists, general cargo and a small quantity of piecegoods. It is not known if the last-named is intended for Shameen or the city. Butterfield's "Shantung" took away 200 tons of cargo from Canton for Shanghai, via Hong Kong. With the little time at their disposal the day-boats cannot work much cargo. After dark in Canton, sampans and junks in

NAVAL LOSS.

ABOUT NINETY MEN MISSING.

London, October 25. It is feared that 70 to 80 have been lost in the sloop "Valerian." Nineteen have been saved including Commander Usher and Lieut: F., G. Hughes, Lieut.-Commander I. W. G. White was not aboard,

His Majesty the King has sent message of condolence.-Reuter.

Rugby, October 25. It is probable that casualties. from the loss of the Navy sloop are continuing the search for ber 80 at noon. further survivors, but there is little hope that any beyond nineteen officers and men, already picked up) the German steamer "Hessen" arwill be found, Many of the survivors are reported to be suffering severaly from exposure.-Reuter.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Oct. 25. The "Valerian" was engaged on an errand of mercy when she sank. carrying relief to inhabitants stricken by the earlier storm. H.M.S. "Capetown" picked up 19" sirvivors out of a crew of 103. The havoc wrought in Bermuda and adjacent waters is described as unprecedented in the history of the island.—Reuter.

BOLSHEVIST STUDENTS.

useful homily to Young China was delivered by Sir Henry Pollock in St. John's Cathedral Hall last night. It makes fine reading, constituting, as it does, a practical form of propaganda against Bolshevism. Sir Henry was indulging in no airy flights of imagination in his denunciation of the methods adopted by Young China in building their new civilisation and in adopting the pernicious Bolshevist principles. He told simply the plain, unvarnished truth, patent to the most "casual observer of the trend of events in China. He does not stand alone in deploring the fact of the Bolshevist doctrine of "freedom of the individual." "free love," "free everything" being impressed upon the Chinese in certain parts of Kwangtung. Colonel Clower had a notable career, both in action and on staff work in France, and was a military lecturer at Cambridge University in 1918. A keen Volunteer and Territorial, he has the finish and style of a Regular Army officer. He has preserved the fine traditions of the London Scottish, along with an enhanced standard of discipline taking close personal interest in every branch of the battalion's military, athletic, and social activities. His successor enjoys, equal popularity in respect of a similar versatility of interest. Major Lyall, whose futher was in the battalion from 1876, retiring in 1898 with the rank of Major, was educated at Glenalmond and Oxford. He first joined the pipe band of the battalion, and rose to the rank of Major in 1922. He is a first-class shot and an athlete and sportsman of some distinction. A distinguished career in France was suspended by his being Luken prisoner by the Germans, His succession to the command will be very popular.

Freedom of speech was the subject of a question calling attention to the prohibition of Mr. A. J Cook addressing two meetings in Staffordshire.

Sir W. Joynson-Hicks, Home Secretary, in replying, explained that he had authorised, under the Emergency Regulations, the Chief Constables in the mining areas to prohibit meetings and processions held in connection with the coal stoppage calculated to lead to a breach of the peace. In a recent speech in that neighbourhood Mr. Cook had said: "We will easily smash the Police dirty bluebottles."
